Time: 11:00 AM – 1:00 PM

The author will present a piece of short fiction about a case involving intense transference and countertransference. The therapist’s personal and professional loyalties are sorely tested. The discussant’s comments will address repression and the varieties of disavowal within the story—and more.

Educational Objectives: Upon completion of this activity, participants will be able to:

1. Describe the varieties of disavowal in the treatment that takes place in the story.
2. Describe how to utilize (or further utilize) these concepts in their own clinical work.
3. Describe the potential ethical stresses on therapists when their clinical and personal arenas overlap.
